"POSSUMS AND THE MCKINLEY BILL."

The Man Who Paid the Bill Vouches for the Correctness of the Increased Price.

There is more truth than poetry in that 'possum matter and the two dollars, and the McKinley thing and "Bullet" and the "Capital Club" referred to in your paper of yesterday. The 'possum was had, and was eaten, and "Bullet" did furnish him and did charge $2.00 for him, the usual charge heretofore being $1.00, but he didn't make known his price until after the 'possum was devoured. Your correspondent's "Treasury" knows more about that said $2.00 than the afore-said mentioned prominent State officer's treasury, for "Bullet's" price paralyzed your correspondent more than all others present combined. When "Bullet" was hauled up about the price, he claimed that there was a good many "taters" around that "possum." Finding that did not allay the storm about to raise around him, he said: "Now, stop, boss, let me tell you. I know that was a sow 'possum, and went as big as that last 'possum I got, but they tells me they's passed a law up in Washington that doubles the price of every thing, and I just thought 'twas time for dat 'possum to rise double, too."

FIFE IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Chas. F. McKesson, Esq., Writes of An Interesting Meeting Just Closed.

...the Fife meetings closed here last night. A great work has been accomplished here and many brought to repentance and conversion. In some respects this was a tough town to tackle. The churches seemed to be dead--two bar-rooms in full blast--dealing out damnation and the devil enthroned, when piety ought to reign. It was predicted that Fife would do no good--that the people would not come out to hear him, and that was the case for a while, but day by day the good work went on. Fife was more powerful, more earnestly eloquent, more tenderly persuasive than I ever knew him. 'Tis true that he poured hot shot into the church members, and when he got them in line for the right he turned his booming batteries on all forms of sin, yet he pleaded so earnestly the love of Christ, that many weary souls found rest and comfort. One of the bar-keepers promised to quit the sale of whiskey, and the whole town, almost to a man, promised to use all legal means to drive the "hell-broth" from the limits. It was in all respects a great and glorious meeting. To show how much he was appreciated and beloved by the people, every man and woman in an audience of 2,500 asked him to come back to Blacksburg. As he bid them farewell there was scarcely a dry eye in the crowd. He has been a powerful instrument in the hands of God of invoking His tender, mellowing, melting influence upon the somewhat stained heart of Blacksburg.

There were about 400 who professed religion, and considering that Blacksburg is a small town in a sparsely settled county, this is indeed a wonderful victory for the Master. He begins a meeting at Mt. Holly to-night. Very respectfully, C. F. MCKESSON.

Those specially attractive novelties, Black Linen Collars, Cuffs and Dress Shirts will be in and on sale Thursday afternoon, the 30th instant at D. S. WAITT'S.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

News was received by Chm'n. Smith yesterday from a western county saying that the Democrats had registered every one of their voters, that each one of them is carrying a rabbit foot in his pocket.

The democratic convention of Pasquotank county met in convention on Saturday and nominated for Legislature M. Weeks; for Sheriff, Jas. W. Small; for Register, J. C. Perry; for Clerk of the Court, W. J. Williams; for Treasurer D. B. Bradford.

The registration in New Hanover shows a gain in the white registration of 738. The county chairman writes to chairman Smith pledging the election of two Democratic members of the House from that county. He also writes that John D. Billamy Jr. will certainly be elected to the State Senate from New Hanover and Pender.

BEET SUGAR

SUCCESSFULLY MADE IN THIS COUNTRY.

Two More Immense Sugar Factories to be Built at a Cost of $1,000,000--Great Interest and Enthusiasm Over the New Industry.

(By United Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.--Samples of beet sugar have been received by the secretary of agriculture from an Oxnard factory at Grand Island, Neb., together with reports to the effect that everything at the factory was running smoothly and that the quality of the beets was very satisfactory. Of this latter fact the department had already been advised by Mr. Horton, one of the assistant chemists of the department, to whom was assigned the duty of testing the beets delivered at the factory, and his reports have indicated a very high average of sugar contents. The importance of this is not only an encouraging indication of the adaptability of the sugar beet to the American soil and climate, but will be most directly encouraging to the producers.

Information has been received at the department that the parties interested in the factory at Grand Island are so thoroughly satisfied with the result attained so far, that they have decided to build two more similar factories.

As these enterprises represent a total cash investment of a million dollars, this decision affords a very good indication of the confidence felt by the gentlemen interested in these factories. The locations of the proposed factories have not been decided upon. The department is progressing rapidly with its preparations for the establishment of beet sugar stations, one of which will undoubtedly be established in Nebraska, and probably in the vicinity of Grand Island, where every phase of the beet sugar industry will be tested, from the seed to the final manufacture of the sugar. Something over a thousand samples of sugar beets have been received at the department from parties to whom seed was furnished last spring, and the analysis made of the samples so received indicate a very considerable bit of country in which the sugar beet can be cultivated with the most success for the purpose of sugar making.

It is said at the agricultural department that the sugar produced from the beet constitutes a very large proportion of the total sugar product of the world. The increase in beet sugar produced in France and Germany last year over the year previous exceeded in amount the entire Cuban product of the past year. The importance of this sugar beet production to the United States is sufficiently shown by the fact that our imports of sugar and molasses for the past fiscal year exceeded one hundred million dollars--over $1.50 for every man, woman and child in the country.

In St. Mary's township the white voters have a registration of 364, and the colored a registration of 261--a majority of 103 for the whites.

The new town will be connected with Petersburg by a handsome bridge over the Appomattox river and a line of electrical cars.

LONDON, Oct. 29.--The Cologne Gazette reports an interview had by a correspondent with T. P. O'Connor on Irish affairs. Among other things Mr. O'Connor is reported as saying that the O'Brien-Dillon visit to the United States was not in connection with the Irish potato famine which was the business of the British government. Mr. O'Connor added that their only concern was to secure funds for political uses. It was expected that one hundred thousand pounds would be raised in the United States. He himself would probably go to Canada, as O'Brien and Dillon could not venture there.

The Locomotive Engineers.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 29.--In to-day's session of the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the federation question was settled. The executive body representing the engineers of each railroad system may, at its option, affiliate with other organizations, whose membership is composed of firemen, switchmen, conductors and trainmen.

FLORENCE ON WHEELS.

The Young South--The Best Advertisement Yet.

[Staff Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.]

GREENSBORO, N. C., October 27th, 1890.--The thirty day tour of the Florence party or "Florence on Wheels" is the grandest and best movement yet made by the growing towns of the young South. The fact that Raleigh was included in the territory from the beginning shows that the Florence people realize the fact that Raleigh is a commercial centre of importance and the home of Southern culture and refinement. Capt. H. H. Colquitt, who has been in charge of this (30) thirty-day tour through the leading cities of the great West, North and East, says that Raleigh surpasses other cities in the manliness of her men and the beauty of her women.

"Florence on Wheels" arrived here Sunday night and remained until Monday night. The citizens of Greenville were greatly interested in the novelty of a traveling city, and treated the party most courteously and pleasantly, showing them their beautiful city and pointing out its growth and its future. It was a day worth remembering.

The party consists of Capt. Robert Andrews, Mayor of Florence, Capt. Julian Field, capitalist, and Mr. Goodwin H. Williams, editor of the Florence Herald, and Mrs. H. B. Quimby and Mrs. Arthur Vose, of Boston, accompanied the excursionists far as this place. The exhibit is in charge of the National Press Circle, the name of which Captain H. H. Colquitt, originated and carried out this novel and successful undertaking. The company started from Florence on the 1st of October for a thirty days' trip and have traveled over 4000 miles, passed through nineteen States and the District of Columbia, stopping at Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Jersey City, Boston, Nashua, Worcester, Providence, Hartford, New York, Springfield, and on the return trip, Raleigh, Greensboro, Greenville and home by way of Atlanta and Chattanooga. In addition to the practical interest manifested in "Florence on Wheels" by the business men and capitalists everywhere, the party accompanying the exhibit have received the most charming social recognition. Boards of Trade and Exchanges have given them hearty welcome, city officials have extended courtesies in the way of banquets, suppers, dinners and at every gathering the best good feeling--prevailed and fair Florence and the young South have been toasted. The exhibit car containing the product of 35 or 40 factories, woods, grains, cotton in all its stages, tobacco etc., etc., has been visited by hundreds of people in all the stopping places, and by thousands in the large cities. This original, extensive and lavish scheme for bringing Florence to the attention of the country has met with the strong approval of leading men in the east and west. Mr. Gary, Collector of the port at Cleveland, was particularly impressed by the plan, and said to one of the party, "We thought we knew all about the most advanced advertising methods here, but I tell you, you Southerners are beating the Yankees at their own game." At many places bright off-hand speeches were made by Major Field, Capt. Andrews and Mr. Colquitt and responded to in words of open-handed hospitality by the officials and prominent business men of the towns.

The Raleigh party, which goes as the guest of the Florence party, will visit the Atlanta Exposition en route. I hear that a number of our leading business men in Raleigh and Greensboro will go to Florence on an excursion to the land sale which takes place November 19th.

REPUBLICAN PLANS.

WHAT EAVES AND MOTT ARE DOING IN NORTH CAROLINA.

A Large Vote Predicted and a Democratic Victory Conceded--Alliance Manoeuvres and Measures.

Your correspondent has for some days been endeavoring to secure some special information for the Dispatch regarding Republican plans in North Carolina which would explain the presence here of Eaves, the present Radical chairman, and of Mott, the ex-chairman. It is found that each man has his own line of work. Mott wishes to make a big stroke, so as to show to the party that he should be chairman and not Eaves. He is trying in all possible ways to show Eaves' lack of ability to plan or carry out a campaign. Your correspondent has talked with friends of both men. One of Eaves' friends said:

How Eaves' Friends Put It.

"The vote in North Carolina this year will, despite the belief of many to the contrary, be larger than usual in an off year. The Republicans have tried very hard to get a good registration of their voters. It is the one thing for which they have thus far publicly spent any money. The Alliance vote in general is apt to be strong. The great bulk of it is of course Democratic. The Democrats, stirred and scared in some sections, have worked like beavers to get their voters registered. On a fairly full vote, such as is herein predicted, Merriam (Democrat) will beat Price (Republican) for Chief Justice by something like 20,000. While some Republicans say the State will go Democratic by default, some say the Republicans will be heard from after the election. This means that they will try in all sorts of ways to get up contests and to prosecute people as they did in 1888 (when every prosecution failed). The activity of the Radical ex-Chairman Mott in State politics is on his own motion. He wants to control a few members of the Legislature, either Republicans or Independents, and will spend some of his own ample means to elect these. Eaves, who so hates Mott that he has not spoken to him in five months, can carry the Republican members of the Legislature, barring the three or four whom Mott will capture. The Republicans in the Legislature, led by Eaves, will be ready to vote for any man for senator who may by any chance be named as against Vance."

Browner and Ewart Defeated.

Another friend of the Republican chairman (Eaves) says the latter knows Browner and Ewart are defeated for Congress, and that he will help neither in any way. As your correspondent predicted in the early spring, the entire year has been one of surprises, and more unexpected things may happen at the election as far as both parties are concerned. There is a decided improvement in Democratic registration and zeal in the past week or ten days. One thing the Republicans wish to do, and that is to get any Democrat to be a candidate against Vance for the Senate. No matter how strong a Democrat he may be they would support him. The Republican National Committee hates Vance, who is, as he has always been, a thorn in the side of the Radicals, and the leaders of the party here have orders from Washington to bring every power to bear against him. Eaves will work hard against Vance because the latter opposed his confirmation. Eaves is a man who carries personal grudges into politics, yet he admits Vance's ability, pureness of purpose, and highness of character.

How Mott's Friend Regards It.

A friend of Dr. Mott said to-day: "The Democrats will carry the State, but by a reduced majority, as there will be a comparatively light vote. There has been no systematic effort made in the back districts to bring out Republican registration, and many whites and blacks will not register. Chairman Eaves has done nothing. He can do nothing, and the claims of his friends that he can control the great majority of the Republican members of the Legislature are idle. He is now out of office as collector of the western revenue district, and that was the only thing which gave him standing. Dr. Mott's friends think the latter will be able to influence many members of the Legislature. As to the Republican strength in the Legislature, it is figured that it will be about what it was in 1889, but the members will not be under any one's control. Eaves certainly cannot handle them."

Dr. Mott's business is and has been mainly looking after a full registration. He started out to get a full registration and to ascertain whether if people are allowed to register they will be allowed to vote. In a few words, he is having a full test of the new election law made. To do this it became necessary for him to get out tickets in all counties, in order to multiply the chances of testing the law with regard to any obstruction of a free ballot. But ten days ago Dr. Mott discovered that the registration was much fairer than he had ever anticipated.

Making Capital For The Force Bill.

His whole purpose is to get evidence to lay before conservative senators when Congress meets, so as to show them the need of a national election law, as it is his view that nothing can be done in politics here or anywhere else unless there is such a law. Congress will be urged to pass a national law applicable to congressional elections, and thus pass the Lodge bill, eliminating that feature applying to the electoral and State vote and putting the electoral vote with the congressional under Federal control; also, inserting a provision that only upon the call of a great number of voters (say two third of either political party) shall the bill be applied to a State. Some one in each State is doing the work that Dr. Mott is doing here; namely, looking into the registration and vote."

Democratic Outlook.

From the best Democratic authority it was learned to-day that the reports as to registration are good and that there will be a large vote. The Republicans are pretty well registered in the central counties. The registration of the Democrats, for a new registration, is good. The Legislature will be largely Democratic. The Democrats will carry the State by 20,000 majority. In many cases Republicans will not vote for their nominees for judges. Charles Price, their candidate for Chief Justice, would be disappointed if they did. He now makes $9,000 a year as United States District Attorney and the regular paid attorney of the Richmond and Danville railway, and he is not willing to give that up for the $2,500 position of Chief Justice. His only object in desiring to be nominated for that position was to put himself in line for appointment as United States judge of the Western district, when Judge R. P. Dick retires, which he can do in two years. The latter position is for life, pays $3,500, and will probably be made a $5,000 place by the next Congress. Price is really not a Republican--in other words, his Republicanism has been questioned--so he desires this endorsement from the State Convention. Chairman Eaves is against him and does not desire his election. The reason for this feeling is that when Eaves was seeking to be confirmed as collector of the Western district, Price told the President and others that if Eaves was confirmed he would indict him next day.

The white registration in Mark's Creek township is 47 more than the colored registration.

WINSTON-SALEM NEWS.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

WINSTON, N. C., Oct. 28, 1890.--This afternoon two marriages took place in our city. The first was the marriage of Mr. Leonard Anderson Vaughn to Miss Laura L. Candler. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large audience, by Rev. W. O. Norman. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn are very popular young people and their many friends all over the State will wish them a happy voyage over the sea of life.

The second was at the Methodist Protestant Church. Mr. Ernest Dalton, of Dalton, led to Hymen's altar Miss Della Hine, of Walkertown, a young lady well known among a large circle in this section.

Both the couples left on the evening train for the northern cities.

It is talked around that the Iron Duke, Mott, will speak to the gentlemen of his stripe at this place to-morrow night. Tom Settle, it is said, will also be here to see if he can regain some of the fur that Barber knocked off of him recently. Tommy says the cold weather is mighty hard on the fellow that gits the fur knocked off.

The people here are taking a great deal of interest in the fight in Wake. They have watched the war-paint the CHRONICLE has had on ever since the campaign opened; and it seems thicker and thicker as the election draws near. If fighting for Democracy does any good the CHRONICLE, we think, will see it in the coming election, not only in Wake, where it has waged an earnest warfare, but all over the State. If Mewborne can carry the Second District we can send a solid delegation back to Congress.
